Wiem Ibn Cheikh

Geopolitics & Migration Studies Enthusiast | Social Change & Civic Engagement advocate | Researcher & Content Creator

Gouvernorat Tunis, Tunisie

Résumé

Hello! I'm Wiem Ibn Cheikh, a Tunisian with a Bachelor's degree in Geopolitics and International Relations, currently pursuing a Research Master's in Migration Studies: Governance, Policies, and Cultures.

In 2025, I had the opportunity to spend a semester at Uppsala University in Sweden through the Erasmus+ programme, an experience that enriched my academic journey and expanded my intercultural perspective. I'm currently working on my Master's Thesis, which explores the links between Migration and Climate change, a topic that reflects both my academic focus and personal commitment to social and environmental justice.

With over a decade of experience in civil society at both national and international levels, I am passionate about making complex geopolitical and societal issues accessible to young people. Through my social media content, I aim to inform Tunisian youth about current affairs within a geopolitical lens and share meaningful opportunities for engagement on local, national, and international scales.

My journey has taken me from grassroots initiatives in Tunisia to volunteering experiences in France, where I embraced intercultural challenges and strengthened my commitment to global citizenship. These experiences have broadened my perspective and deepened my motivation to contribute to positive change.

--> I am currently seeking new professional and engagement opportunities where I can apply my expertise in migration, geopolitics, and civic engagement, and continue learning in dynamic international environments. I'm always open to collaboration, knowledge exchange, and networking with individuals and organizations working on Geopolitics, International Relations, Migration, and Youth Empowerment.

My ultimate goal ?

It is to harness my expertise and creativity to inspire others and drive societal transformation. As Margaret Mead once said: "Never doubt that a small group of thoughtful, committed citizens can change the world; indeed, it's the only thing that ever has."

International volunteer | Climate Equity Advocate

octobre 2022 - juin 2023 (9 mois)

Valence, Auvergne-Rhône-Alpes, France

Climate Equity Advocate | Education Enthusiast | Sustainability Promoter

In collaboration with two dedicated Beninese volunteers and two passionate French volunteers, I spearheaded a project that delved into the heart of one of the most pressing global issues - climate inequities. Our mission transcended the recognition of the overarching climate crisis; it aimed to confront the disparities and injustices that unfairly burden vulnerable communities worldwide.

As part of my volunteering mission, I engaged with over 200 school classes, surpassing the traditional lecture format by orchestrating interactive sessions that encouraged active participation and introspection among students. These sessions were wide-ranging, encompassing discussions on the significance of sustainability, the intricacies of global mobility, and the complexities of migration patterns.

At the core of our endeavor was the aspiration to nurture a sense of responsibility and awaken a passion for positive change in the hearts and minds of these young individuals. By fostering dialogue and interactive learning, we sought to empower them with the knowledge and awareness essential to tackle environmental challenges head-on.

Our project marked just the inception of a journey, one where I'm eager to continue educating and inspiring future generations to be the guardians of our planet.
